

Progress Report: InforMe

A. User Stories Implemented

- As a user, I would like to be able to visit InforMe through my web browser so that I can use it on the go.
- As a user, I would like for the domain name to be catchy so that I can remember it easily.
- As a user, I would like to be able to submit a URL and have a summary returned to me on the screen.
- As a user, I would like for the backend to produce accurate summaries for most news websites.
- As a user, I would like for the design to be easy-on-the eyes so that I can view on high-brightness screens with ease.
- As a user, I would like to have the Android application reflect the colors and style of the webpage so that I have a uniform experience on all platforms.
- As a user, I would like to have access to relevant information in the footer of the index page, so that I can explore further mediums to contact the webpage developers.

B. Group Pairings [Name (github_handle)]

Website Team:

- Ernest Besse (toygeron)
- Dexter Ketchum (silcore)

Android Team:

- Davis Phillips (snverse)
- Moises Figueroa (mf11y)

Back-End Parsing Team:

- Austin Casale (saleac)

C. Design Changes, Unit Test Changes, and Other Notes

We originally were going to use a black and white, minimalistic design for the website and Android application. However, since the white color scheme was painful to view on bright screen settings, we overhauled the design to go with a soft gray, dark design.

We also removed the contact.html and about.html webpages. We felt creating several webpages for simple information was unnecessary. Instead, we have chosen to use the footer as a collection of relevant URLs, including our: Github, subreddit, Twitter, and Facebook. The header was also simplified, as was the font across the site (Georgia → Arial).

The Android application was updated to reflect the style changes made to the website.
